MATTERS IN GEORGETOWN.

Death of One of Fremont's Pioneers-Other Interesting Items.

Mr. Charles Wise, or "governor," as his friends called him, an old gentleman with an eventful career, died yesterday with dropsy. He had been failing for over a year. Mr. Wise was one of the followers of the great pathfinder, John C. Fremont, and participated in all the hardships of that first expedition through the unknown "Rockles." Georgetown furnished several more men for that expedition, among them Jacob Dodson, Mr. Rohrer, father of William Rohrer of Washington, and Henry King. Mr. Rohrer met his death on the trip, and Henry King, who joined the Fre-mont ranks the afternoon of the day of his marriage, was another of those who never returned. Mr. Wise also figured in the Mexican war and its hardships. In Georgetown, during his most prosperous days, deceased was a contracting stevedore of large business. His wife survives him. The funeral will take place tomorrow at

Ruth Bogley yesterday sold for $60,000 part of lot 14, Gordon's sub of square 100, being improved property on the north side of P street between Valley and 3ist streets. J. B. Wimer has sold to the District of Columbia for $300 part of the tract known as Reno. The purchase will be used as an extension to the reservoir property at that point. The Tenleytown water service is not giving satisfaction. It is alleged by the residents along the line of the main that the supply is insufficient to all, while those at the highest points are almost absolutely unsupplied. Among the recent additions to the stables of the sporting fraternity of Georgetown is Chilly, a black gelding, by emont, dam, Manola. He's a three-year old, very speedy, and altogether a high-class colt. Chilly was bred by Mr. Carter Steel, advanced winter styles; also new im-Hall of the well-known turfmen. He was sold as a two-year-old to Mr. Gwynn R. Tompkins, the secretary of the Old Do-minion Jockey Club. Mr. Tompkins, it will be remembered, had at one time the great steeplechaser Can Can, the best the country ever knew, excelling every other chaser in her weight-carrying ability. At a meeting of the members of the Georgetown Assembly Mr. Thos. Hyde was chosen president; Mr. C. P. Williams, treasurer; Mr. Jos. H. Bradley, secretary, and Messrs. J. H. Gordon, A. A. Snyder, C. H. Cragin and H. S. Matthews a board Every afternoon and evening. Good things of governors.

The delegates from Georgetown will represent the Gay Street Church at the convention of the Columbian Association of Baptist Churches in Washington.

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS.

Annual Meeting of the Atlantic Conference to Begin Tonight. The Atlantic conference of the Seventh-

Day Adventist Church, which embraces the states of New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, the lower counties of New York and the District of Columbia, will hold its annual meeting in this city, commencing by preaching at 7:30 this evening at the Church of the Denomination, located on 8th street northeast between F and G streets. In addition to the attendance of all the ministers and workers in the conference, the several church organizations will send delegates, so that the meeting will bring a large number from a distance Elder H. E. Robinson is president of the conference and C. P. Bollman of New York president of the Sabbath School Association, the interest of which, as well as of the Missionary Society, will receive attention at this meeting. Devotional exercises will be held every morning except Sabbath at 9 o'clock, and the business in-2:30 p. m. Bible study will commence at 6 p. m. and preaching daily at 7:30. On Sabbath (Saturday) Sabbath school will be held at 9:30, and preaching at 11 a. m. and 2:30 p. m The Washington, Brooklyn and Jersey City churches are the largest in the conference. Elders Porter and Van Horn of the general conference will also be in interest to the local church, which is doing all it can to facilitate the business, benefit by spiritual instruction and care for the

A Suggestion to the Health Office.

To the Editor of The Evening Star: The other morning I passed two girls who were on their way to school, and one was saying, "No, papa told them I had been vaccinated, and so did I, but I haven't been all the same, and don't mean to be." There is no doubt that owing to this and other causes there may be a dangerous number of pupils in the city schools who are thus sliding along unprotected, each a possible fresh center of contagion, and this in spite of fumigations, closing of schools, warnings, &c. I would suggest that the Commissioners and the health office make a sudden raid upon the defiant or ignorant rest-easies. The "certificate" plan having been enforced, suppose now that some morning the scholars should be halted in the corridors and checked into their rooms by their teachers, and as they pass they shall exhibit their bared arm to a physician (male or female), standing beside the teacher. That would be a school exhibition to some purpose. There need be no previous secrecy about it, and all could come prepared. Then, having cleared the schools and the school houses, the health office will have the pest where it can handle it with more of confidence and cer-VOX POX.

SOME POLICE COURT CASES.

Kimball, and the Result. "I ain't no vagrant," said Rebecca Woody, a young colored woman, when she appeared before Judge Kimball today. "My husband works for me." "Where is he?" the court asked her. "There he is," she answered, pointing to colered man in the audience. "But you can't beg on the street," the judge told her, "and this time you will have to go down for fifteen days." Rebecca proved a good hand at shedding tears and begging the judge to let her go, but her tears did not affect the court enough to cause a change to be made in the sentence

Ida Mason, a colored woman who was tnown in South Washington by Policeman Flathers, moved to the "Division" some time ago because she was so well known, and the officer was also sent to the "Di-vision" to do duty. Last evening he no-ticed Ida at what is known as the "dance on 131-2 street, and when she had appeared on the street several times he arrested her as a vagrant.

"I ain't gullty," was her plea.

When the officer had told his story the woman was heard. She based her plea for leniency on the ground that she had not been arrested for a long time. 'How long?" asked the court.

"Nine months and ten days," was her esponse. "Has it been that long a time since you

"L think it has been nearer ten days than t has nine months," volunteered the officer. "Sixty days." Charlie Wood, a colored boy, worked until midnight, and then went over to the brick yard to see a friend. The friend had not arrived, and Charlie made his bed near the fire in one of the kilns. "I'm hiding from the police," was what he tole a man. He thought he had a joke on the brick yard man, but when the latter told a policeman the joke was turned, and Charlie was locked up. His personal bonds were taken.

William Owens, another negro who failed to go home last night, got in trouble but he did not fare as well as Wood. "I found him sleeping in a vacant house, said the police officer. "How did he get in the house?" the judge

"I think he climbed in through a win The officer said that some old carpets had been left in the house, and the man was using them as bedding. A sentence of sixty days was imposed.

George Saulsbury, an old pensioner, who spends most of his time and money with women of questionable character, was in the toils on a charge of vagrancy. He was at the dance hall on 13 1-2 street last night, Policeman Flathers told the court, and he also said that the prisoner has been in the "Division" under the influence of liquot a number of times during the past few weeks. "I'm a sign writer," said the prisoner, "and my business takes me to public places. Judge Kimball sent him down for thirty

The members of this club, Mr. Herman Rakemann and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lent, are well-known performers and all are quite popular. Each will be heard in solo numbers and there will also be concerted work for them. The soloists who will assist the club are Mr. Anton Schott, the great Wagnerian tenor, who has so many friends in this city and who will be a violin virtueso who has gained great praise for her work in other cities. The club will present an extremely attractive program, and the concert should be well patronized. Seats are now on sale at Met-

Mr. Seitz's Lecture.-Mr. Don M. Seitz, business manager of the New York World, gave an interesting talk last evening at the Church of Our Father, corner of 13th and L streets, before the Universalist Club of this city. His subject was "Trouble," and under this vague title he gave a view of some of those phases of newspaper making that never get to the ears of the lay public except when one of the craft chooses to talk. Mr. Seitz said that trouble is most thoroughly comprised in the word "journalism," which, he added, is significant of all the ills that can come to humanity. The modern newspaper he likened to Pandora's box, which, when opened, lets loose a multitude of woes upon the reading public. He carried out this mythological figure by comparing the newsboy to Mercury, and then he launched into an amusing description of the process of news-getting, with all its "trouble." Luck, said the speaker, is as much a factor in this matter as is enterprise. The difference in this regard between American and English papers is most amusing, and Mr. Seitz gave some clever anecdotes to illustrate this, as well as other points in his lecture, which was delivered with a most happy style and met with hearty appreciation by the members of the club and their friends. Mr. Seitz is a man of wide newspaper experience in the metropolis, having been at one time city editor of the Brooklyn Eagle. VOUP Later he became associated with the Recorder, being there business manager and afterward city editor, and thence he progressed to the chief business direction of the World. He spoke last night in such a happy vein that the audience tendered him a vote of thanks at the conclusion of the entertainment.

The rest of the evening's program was furnished by a quartet consisting of Mr. B. R. Cushman, Dr. Willis Pomercy, Mr. Melville D. Hensey and Mr. Harry Craft. Miss Ella Myers sang soprano solos very acceptably and Mr. Claude Miller performed on the piano.

A Good-Bye Sale. It hardly seems necessary to call attention to the advertisement of the New York Clothing House, in another column, It speaks for itself; and, while it is full of promise to those seeking bargains, it has a sad side, because it foreshadows the withdrawal from Washington of an enterprising and energetic business establishment that has made many friends by combining low prices with square dealing. The opportunity it offers now is a rare one, not likely to be repeated soon, and should be taken advantage of by everybody interested in being warmly, cheaply and stylishly prepared for the approaching
